Beet Bounty Knocked Out

SUPREME COURT OF STATE OF MINNESOTA KNOCKS OUT THE LAW GRANTING BOUNTY ON BEET SUGAR PRODUCED IN MINNESOTA—LIKELY DECISION WILL STRIKE BLOW TO INDUSTRY IN THAT SECTION.

Associated Press Cable to the Star.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 4.—The Minnesota Supreme Court has declared the state beet sugar bounty law granting a bounty on beet sugar produced in this state, to be unconstitutional. It is thought likely that this decision will have a bad effect on the beet sugar industry of this state and that the production may materially fall off.

TO ENCOURAGE THE SMALL FARMER

LAND COMMISSIONER PRATT SAYS THAT HE BELIEVES IN TRYING TO ATTRACT BONA FIDE SETTLERS TO THE LAND—WANTS TO FOLLOW THE PRINCIPLES OF AMERICAN LAND LAWS.

"The encouragement of genuine settlers will be the general policy of the land office," said J. W. Pratt, the new land commissioner, this morning. "While I think it well for Hawaii to retain control of her own lands and to carry out to a large extent her own land laws, I believe that the American precedent should be followed. The stability and prosperity of the United States government has been largely caused by its policy of encouraging the settlers who take land and make their homes on it. Hawaii should follow the same example, and encourage the small farmer. That is what we intend to do when we are ready to take up new work and ascertain what the public lands are."

Tremendous Seas Do Damage To Rosecrans

OIL STEAMER BATTERED BY SEAS ON HER RECENT TRIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO—MATES SWEEPED ALONG DECK AND INJURED—VESSEL BOARDED REPEATEDLY BY BIG WAVES—MUCH DAMAGE DONE.

The S. S. Rosecrans was badly damaged by a succession of gales on her trip to this port from San Francisco. She encountered the rough weather a week ago last Wednesday and Thursday. The wind freshened up Wednesday from the southeast and by the afternoon there was a moderate gale blowing. There was the same westerly swell running that every incoming ship has reported, and the combination made an ugly dangerous cross sea. The wind shifted during the night to the southwest from where it blew a full gale. The Rosecrans was loaded too deep with fuel oil for this port. She was nearly three feet lower than her ordinary draft. The seas boarded her repeatedly. The worst damage was done during the early part of Thursday morning. The port lighthouse was stove in and the starboard lighthouse cap was battered down by the heavy seas. The chock blocks of the forward port lifeboat were broken and the boat through doubled lashed was picked up bodily and thrown from the upper deck down on the main deck. Every companion ladder was carried away. The hand steering gear was smashed hopelessly. Nothing but the rims of the wheels being left. On the fore-castle head the anchors got adrift. Mate F. C. Dellegar went forward to attend to making them fast. The situation was very critical. The anchors were both big, cumbersome affairs, and had the heavy seas gotten hold of them the forward hatch might have been stove in or other damage been done. Both of the anchors were made fast. An idea of the immense force of the waves can be gained from the fact that the waves ripped off the iron cap of a big capstan on the forward fore-castle head. Dellegar and Third Mate E. Olson had narrow escapes from being swept overboard. Just as Dellegar was coming down the port ladder to the main deck from the fore-castle head, a huge sea boarded the ship, picked him up, threw him against the steam winch and swept him along the deck. He did not know whether he was overboard or not until he struck against the rail. He was badly hurt, his back being very stiff and sore for four days after the accident. At the time that Dellegar was swept onto the main deck, Olson saw the sea coming so he grabbed hold of a rope to cling on. Dellegar was swept against Olson, knocking him loose from the rope. Olson was hurt by being dashed along the deck. The gale lasted for 35 hours. No damage was done to the hull of the vessel and none of the hatches were smashed in. Both sails were lost. The Rosecrans arrived off the port last night and came in the harbor this morning. She will sail probably tomorrow for Hilo.

AMENDMENT IS NEEDED DIFFERENTIATING FINES AND FEES

NEW REGULATION OF THE TREASURY DEPARTMENT AFFECTING AUDITING OF ACCOUNTS.

Collector Stackable has received the following notice from the Treasury Department:

Under the provisions of the act approved February 14, 1903, the accounts of fines imposed and fees collected under the navigation laws, previously settled by the Auditor for the Treasury Department, are now to be settled by the Auditor for the State and other Departments, while those accruing under the customs laws are still to be settled by the Auditor for the Treasury Department.

In order, therefore, that receipts on these accounts may be covered into the Treasury separately, collectors and surveyors are hereby directed to deposit them as "customs fines," "customs fees," "navigation fines," "navigation fees," and to cause this information to appear on the face or back of the certificates issued therefor.

HE WILL ESCORT PRINCE CHING

Prince Ching the Imperial Chinese representative to the St. Louis Exposition will shortly pass through Honolulu en route to the Mainland. It is not known exactly when he will come or on what vessel he and his extensive suite will be passengers. When he does come it will be under the personal guidance of a very competent individual. Tom McKay the well known tourist agent will have charge of the Chinese ambassador and suite. McKay passed through Honolulu on the Siberia last October. He stated then that he was going to Peking to arrange about bringing Prince Ching to St. Louis.

There will not be so many other events going on Monday evening, and it is thought a hall can be secured.

HAS THERE BEEN ANOTHER KRAKATOA

REV. DR. SERENO E. BISHOP CALLS ATTENTION TO A SERIES OF SUGGESTIVE COINCIDENCES WHICH INDICATE THAT A VIOLENT DISTURBANCE MAY HAVE OCCURRED IN THE ALEUTIAN ISLANDS.

EDITOR STAR: Three peculiar events have been reported in—I believe—your journal, as having occurred on November 29th.

The first was a peculiar record made by the tide gauge in this harbor, showing the presence of a tidal wave oscillating the sea, probably from seismic disturbance across the ocean, as has repeatedly occurred, usually caused by violent earthquakes in Japan, also once from the Krakatau eruption in the Straits of Sunda in 1883.

The second event was damage done to the Railway track by heavy surf along the North coast of Oahu. These were evidently tidal waves, since no surf proper could possibly reach so high above the beaches of that coast.

The third was the inundation by tidal waves on the 29th of the village of Pelekunu on the North Coast of Molokai.

SUMNER BRINGS MANY RELATIVES

THE OLD MAN RETURNS FROM TAHITI THIS MORNING TO RESIDE IN HONOLULU ONCE MORE.

John K. Sumner of litigation fame arrived this morning on the S. S. Aamoa. With him came a very formidable number of relations, retainers, etc. As Sumner made his way through the crowds that lined the Hackfeld wharf his course resembled the wake of a battleship. His numerous retinue followed close behind him, while behind this big party of arrivals came a crowd of curious people who were anxious to see the specimens of Tahitian beauty that the old man had brought home with him.

But Sumner did not waste time talking to the curious, or money, with the hackdrivers. He escorted his charges over to King street where all hands took the electric car to Sumner's Kalili residence.

There were nine in the party, four grown people, one pretty little miss of about 15 years, and the rest small children. Sumner seemed to be greatly attached to the little miss and he walked with her to the car.

"Yes," he said to an inquirer, "I have come back. I think I will live here now. I did not get settled in Tahiti. No I did not go into the cattle business down there. I did not care to do so. I wanted to come back to Honolulu. These people with me? Oh, they are my cousins and my relatives. Yes they are going to live here too with me. I can't tell just yet what I will do in Honolulu or whether I will go into any business or not."

Among those who returned from Tahiti with Sumner were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Keller, Hawaiians, who formerly lived in Honolulu. They have been in Tahiti for some years. Four of their grandchildren returned with them.

WORK OF THE KINDERGARTENS

This morning after acknowledging a gift of $25 for the kindergarten children's Christmas, and gifts of $20 and $5 towards a doll fund, the kindergarten supervisors spent several minutes discussing plans for their doll table at the Fair to be held on the lanai of the Hawaiian Hotel, a week from Monday. Miss Lawrence then explained the purpose of a play the kindergarten training class are getting up, to be given in Progress Hall on December 12th, the main object of which is to demonstrate to the mothers of the kindergarten children the added joy that comes at Christmas time through the Santa Claus surprises. An encouraging report was read of the successful kindergarten work at Ewa.

A petition was made for the admission into the Castle Home of two children whose mother was insane. The Home is almost overflowing in numbers, but can still offer its beneficent shelter to these two bereft little ones.

WHAT IS A COUGH? A spasmodic effort to expel the mucus from the bronchial tubes. A cold causes a more abundant secretion of mucus, and when the lungs and bronchial tubes are inflamed, they are extremely sensitive to the irritation. Unless care is taken, the cold may result in pneumonia, which is swift and deadly. If the cold is a lingering one, the more leisurely but equally fatal consumption may set in. Do not neglect a cold or cough. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It always cures and cures quickly. Sold by all dealers. Benson Smith & Co., general agents.
